

S. P. Dunham & Co.
Trenton, May 15.

A Sale of Gingham at 5c.

If you want to see a demonstration of the stores ability, willingness to make low prices for a most needed kind of serviceable washable dress stuff, you will visit the 6c wash dress goods section to-day.

Imported 39c Dress Swisses, 19c.

These were made to sell at 39c, and would have been sold so, but from the fact that there are here and there unscrupulous dealers that would not be so particular as to sell at the price. Not printed, remember, but like-line while Swiss grounds, with graduated embroidered relief colored polka dots in pink, blue, white, green and black.

Women's Suits and Jackets

at little more than half.
Most of them are models; some from makers who had too many; all are from our regular women's tailors, who do as good work as there is in this broad land.
$7.50 to $15.00 for suits worth $12.50 to $20.00.
Jackets that were $3.00, $10.00 to $12.50, $1.99.
Separate skirts that were $5.00 to $12.50, $1.99 to $7.50.

S. P. Dunham & Co.
13-15 N. Broad St., 22, 24, 26 E. State St.
TRENTON, N. J.

You Fool
yourself if you hatch out a lot of mongrel chicks this spring.

Eggs for Hatching
should be from pure blood stock. They cost no more to raise and are worth much more. To get good results the eggs you set

Must be Fertile
I will book orders for BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCK eggs at FIVE CENTS a piece. They are bred to lay RHODE ISLAND R.I.D. eggs, 11.25 per 15; $2.50 per 40.
I guarantee 75 per cent. fertility and will refund the balance at half price, if that percentage is not reached.
I am agent for Star Incubators and Brooders, Champion $5.00 Brooders, Wilson Bone Mills and Poultry Supplies.

F. M. GRESS
FALLSINGTON, PENNA.

E. BORHEK, Optician.
O. H. FLAIG, Manager.
628 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

If you think your eyes need attention have headache or any discomfort which you think might come from your eyes, come and see us. We will tell you without charge.

C. H. FLAIG, Manager.
JOLY'S OLD FAMILY LIQUOR STORE
JOLY'S OLD RYE WHISKY.
FULL QUART.
5-year-old 75c. and a pint of wine free for $1.00.
OLD FAMILY LIQUOR STORE.
NO. 9 SOUTH SEVENTH ST., PHILA.
15-60 cents. Send postal.

FREDERICK STUCKERT,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
All legal business attended to with promptness and accuracy.
Office, 107 N. Broad St., BRISTOL, PA.

Dr. C. E. King,
DENTIST,
228 Mill Street, Bristol.
DAS ADMINISTERED.

OXFORD VALLEY.
Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Specht of Langhorne spent Sunday in this village.

J. Warner Martindell and family spent Sunday with relative near Pineville, Pa.

The ice company's horses, from Philadelphia, which have been boarding at Joseph B. Tomlinson's, were returned to that city on Wednesday last.

C. Y. Stradling is attending the Knott's of the United Eagle State convention at Shamokin, Pa. This week as a delegate from Fallington Castle.

Much to the pleasure of the pupils, the public school in this village spent Tuesday afternoon of last week gathering flowers in the woods near the village.

The monthly business meeting of the O. Y. Stradling, of C. O. Wildman's on Tuesday evening of last week. The principal business of the evening was the report of the nominating committee and the election of officers and committees for the ensuing term.

PENN VALLEY.
Earl Wells Dale is visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

Charles Hughes spent Wednesday of last week in Mt. Holly.

Out of town visitors on Sunday were Miss Lydia Daley, Misses Margaret and Elizabeth Walker, of Philadelphia, at David B. Daley's; David's sister, Miss Emma Lovett, of Trenton, at James Lovett's.

Saturday to Monday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Suckles and Merrill Suckles, of Trenton, at Anthony Suckles; John S. Daley, of Trenton, at William Suckles; Miss Hannah Carter, of Bordentown, at George Bartle's.

The young people of the Penn Valley Presbyterian Church have made arrangements to give an extraordinary treat to all fun lovers. A Lincoln Park and original entertainment. "The Sublime and the Ludicrous." The entertainment will be given in the Penn Valley Church on the evening of May 20th, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Kirk comes very highly recommended and we can guarantee an evening's entertainment that will be amusing and instructive.

LOWER MERSENER.
Mr. and Mrs. George Steel, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday in Cornwall with Mr. Steel's parents.

The Epworth League rally of the Cornwall M. E. Church was held this Wednesday evening.

Friday afternoon the Home Missionary Society of the Edlington Presbyterian Church met at the Manse.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis, of Wyncote, were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Folk from Saturday until Monday.

George Cherry entertained the guests at the academy of the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening, with several selections on the graphophone.

A Choccolate will be given by the Pastor's Aid Society, of the Cornwall M. E. Church on the evening of May 28. Admission 10 cents. Ice cream and early sale from 6 to 10.

The Y. M. C. A. base ball team will have a strawberry festival, Tuesday evening, May 20, in Bridgewater hall. Admission 15 cents, which includes strawberry and cake. Ice cream and home-made cake will be sold.

The attendance of the Y. P. S. C. E., of the Edlington Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, was very much improved. The meeting was led by Miss Lewis. Mr. Ellis, who is an active worker in the Christian Endeavor, gave a very good talk on the subject.

Frank Platt graduated from the Princeton Seminary Tuesday of last week with high honor, having received a Historical Fellowship which includes a year abroad in the study of the history of the United States. Mr. Platt had accepted a call to the Boundary Avenue Church in Baltimore where he will remain until October.

PENN'S MANOR.
William Stokes was a visitor at the county seat on Monday.

Ivins Mow has been very sick the past week, and no signs of improvement as yet.

The O. E. Society held a special meeting on last Monday evening at Mrs. M. Neely's.

The bank business on the William B. Irvine farm has been agitated enough at this time that there is quite a possibility the work will be completed, as they began on last Wednesday to make and lay the trunk in position before closing.

There will be a "lunch social" and musical entertainment on Saturday evening. The program of the evening will be a grand and enjoyable affair. Anyone who never attended such an affair, will find it a most interesting and profitable one for themselves, and they will not be disappointed. All are cordially invited.

After a long lingering illness, John Morison, one of our most esteemed citizens and neighbor of the late, departed this life on Wednesday, May 13, in the 78th year of his age. His remains were laid away at his last resting place on Saturday evening in the Morrisville cemetery, and were buried alongside of his dear beloved companion through life, who went before him almost five years ago. He left two sons and two daughters, all married, living in the vicinity with their wives, husbands and children, who mourn the loss of a devoted father. Although the end was almost hourly expected in the latter end of May, when the late broke, it filled their hearts with overwhelming grief and sorrow. The large funeral was attended by friends from near and far who came to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased and to extend a sympathetic hand to the bereaved in their affliction. The funeral services were held at the house and were conducted by Rev. A. S. Pittenger, our pastor of the chapel. After the 90th Psalm, fervent prayer following, he delivered a most impressive sermon from 1 Corinthians, 15: 55, after prayer and benediction the remains were taken on their last journey, followed by a long line of coaches and vehicles. The deceased was a lifelong resident of Falia township, born on Blies Island, where he was raised on his parents' farm, which he at last inherited and lived on until his death. He was an industrious and hard working man, all his life, full of ambition, always joyful, liked by every one who came in contact with him, ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy. His last six years were spent in almost continuous pain and suffering from the effect of a fractured hip, which he recovered from, from which he never fully recovered. For the last year he was completely helpless. Although around and about with the aid of a man nurse, for the last month he got so weak he could not leave his bed, and at last he was relieved from all suffering, of which he certainly had his share the last year of his life.

EMILIE.
Miss Taylor, of Frankfort, visited Miss Fairbank from Saturday until Monday.

Wesley Blinn, now in the employ of Spotts Bldg. Co., flour and feed store, Tacoma, spent Sunday at his home.

Mrs. Susan Miller at one time a resident of this place died at her home in Philadelphia last week, at the advanced age of ninety years.

The Epworth League services were well attended on Sunday. The church was decorated in red and white, and the program was very interesting and well rendered.

Clothing.
Will you look at our stock of clothing? Some suits. Look at these prices: Men's suits, black cloth, $5.00—good value. Mixed colors, $7.75, worth $8.00; $7.00, worth $8.00; $8.00, worth $10.00; $10.00, worth $12.00; $12.00, worth $15.00; $15.00, worth $18.00. Spring overcoats, $10. This is our price; why pay $12 in the city for the same style coat? You had better see this. A full line of boys' and children's clothing. Hats, caps, and gentlemen's furnishings goods. Johnson Bros., Cor. Mill and Wood streets, Bristol, Pa.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to Emeline's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation.

Get a free sample of Chamberlain's stomach and Liver Tablets at Emeline's drug store. They are easy to take and more pleasant in effect than pills. Then their use is not followed by constipation as is often the case with pills. Regular size, 25c. per box.

"I admit that plants' flesh. Don't you?" "Yes, but I always dread this beginning."

"I noticed you boeing your garden yesterday. What are you raising?" "Bliss, mostly."

WEST BRISTOL TOWNSHIP.
George Neleser, of Bristol, was a guest of B. F. Allen on Saturday last.

James Lorimer has been quite ill at the home of his son, Jasper Lorimer.

R. B. Sanderson was in Philadelphia Monday and Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. M. Mason of Philadelphia was the guest of Mrs. Minter on Sunday last.

Harper Gilson, of Philadelphia spent Saturday and Sunday with Charles Russell Lorimer.

Mr. Daniels and family spent Saturday and Sunday at their club house, on the Randall property.

Mr. Herst has removed the debris that was a house situated along the river road, owned by Edward Knack.

Mr. Evans has greatly improved White Hall since coming here on April 1st, and expects soon to begin manufacturing in outbuildings.

Miss Hortense Vandegrift, Miss Lizzie Lauffert and Master George Weasman spent Friday afternoon with Master Warren Allen.

Mrs. Edwin Sinclair is confined to her bed with severe attack of rheumatism. It is hoped that she may have an early recovery.

Charles Singlebois was a busy man on Sunday last conveying the many passengers from Oroydon to the Club House along the Delaware.

Prof. Dager, of Philadelphia, went fishing on Saturday with hook and line off the Neeshaminy Creek. His patience was rewarded by a few perch.

H. P. Gossin, of Newportville, the assessor, was around "McKee City" on Thursday last. He did not seem to enjoy his work very much but his old friends were pleased to see him.

On Tuesday night the Oloy House known as "McKee City" on the premises of William Brown, along the Neeshaminy Creek was burned down. The blaze created quite an excitement in the neighborhood.

On Wednesday last the horse of William Vandegrift of Newportville, became frightened at the cur, while on the freight house at Oroydon, and ran away. He was caught at the trolley power house. No damage done.

There is some talk of ex-ord Supervisor Henry Baker for Commissioner. The news seems to be true, but no doubt will be through the political fire furnace. Don't be deceived, Henry; you were promised a number of luscious plums for your noble support of Buckley, and it is a well known fact that the Buckley administration is reported day with your own vote, and it is reported that was cast for a defeated candidate. Don't let them fool you with pretty promises. You think you are too old a bird to be caught with such chaff.

The "Dromedary" and "Gossin" controversy seems to have agitated the residents of the readers of the Gazette, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleaveth the cud, and we, with the host of others, admire the poetical genius of the coteries of writers from Newportville. Our friends say the "Dromedary" is not good to do, but we can neither affirm or deny as the good Book tells us the flesh of beasts for man's consumption is of that which perishes the hoof and cleaveth the cud. Now, it seems the Dromedary cleav

